Budget approved with little fanfare

By Ed Salerno, Reporter

In the midst of what proved to be a very lengthy and business laden Pendleton County School Board meeting on Thursday, May 21, 2015, Superintendent Anthony Strong presented his proposed balanced budget. He stated that, "This budget includes the dollar amounts needed I discussed with you in March in terms of reductions in order to maintain the required contingency. This budget does not include a 4% tax increase but does make the assumption that the board will take the compensating rate or a rate high enough to maintain the revenue as it was last year." There was little discussion and the 2015-16 balanced budget was approved unanimously.

In other business the following Certified Employees of the Year were recognized. Kay Mudd, Sharp Middle School (SMS), Craig Smith Pendleton County High School (PHS), Debbie Fields, Southern Elementary School (SES), Tina Record, Northern Elementary (NES). Kay Mudd was the District Certified Employee of the Year. The Classified Employees of the Year were, Jordan Woodruff, SMS, Sheila Wright, PHS, Dustin Yelton, SES, Julia Maxedon, NES. Felty arrested on child porn charges

The Kentucky State Police Electronic Crime Branch, assisted by KSP Post 6 Dry Ridge, arrested Roy D. Felty, 36, Falmouth, on charges related to possession and distribution of matter portraying a sex performance by a minor at 4:57 p.m., May 28, 2015.

Felty was arrested as the result of an undercover Internet Crimes Against Children investigation. The KSP Electronic Crime Branch began the investigation after discovering the suspect sharing images of child sexual exploitation online. The images included prepubescent children engaged in sexual acts.

The investigation resulted in the execution of a search warrant at Felty's residence on May 28, 2015. Equipment used to facilitate the crime was seized and taken to KSP's forensic laboratory for examination. The investigation is ongoing.

Felty is currently charged with 18 counts of possession and 12 counts of distribution of matter portraying a sex performance by a minor. All charges are Class D felonies, with each count punishable by one to five years in prison. Felty was lodged in the Boone County Jail.

Heroin Education & Awareness forum provides information, resources and firsthand accounts

By Dan Klapheke, Reporter

NKY Hates Heroin hosted the Pendleton County Heroin Education and Awareness Forum this past Saturday, May 30 at the Pendleton County Fairgrounds and Exposition Center's Griffin Center Amphitheater. The forum was designed to provide Pendleton County residents with information on heroin and heroin abuse and how to prevent and treat it.

Booths providing information and help on heroin abuse were set up around the amphitheater seating, including representatives from St. Elizabeth Healthcare, Champions for a Drug Free Pendleton County, Firehouse Ministries, Casey's Law and NKY Hates Heroin. Concessions were sold in the back and a live band consisting of local churchgoers played for the first hour of the event.

The forum's attendance was low, but Pendleton County Judge Executive Dave Fields said that didn't discredit the message it was sending.

"Our numbers may not be great today, but it's just like a fire. It just takes a spark to get it going," he said.

After the live music, speakers addressed recent heroin politics, talked

Farmers Market hosts grand opening

By Dan Klapheke, Reporter

The Pendleton County Farmers Market hosted its 2015 grand opening this past Saturday at the vacant lot between Barnes Hardware and KOI Auto Parts. The market consisted of 100 percent local vendors from Pendleton County and its adjoining counties.

The grand opening featured the flavor of the season, strawberries, in goods such as strawberry salsa, strawberry green tea and the fruit itself. Kentucky Proud 'Plate It Up' samples were also available.

Due to the season's unusual weather, more herbs and cold crops were available, including asparagus, broccoli and kale. Homemade goods such as soap, jams, jellies, wine and maple syrup were also sold.

Plenty of vendors were present at the market despite production season having been slower than

Great ideas abound at community forum

By Ed Salerno, Reporter

The Pendleton County Youth Leadership Class (PCYLC) of 2015, sponsored by Bill Mitchell from the Pendleton County Community Development Office and former Sharp Middle School Art teacher Michelle Lustenberg, hosted the Pendleton County Forum. The event was a well attended community wide brainstorming session held at the Falmouth School Center on Friday evening May 22, 2015. Grace Beebe, PCYLC member and moderator of the forum, took suggestions from among the 115 people present for positive ways to improve Pendleton County's business environment, health care, rural heritage, education, redevelopment of land, marketing of local businesses, and much more. The audience included, along with local residents, parents of PCYLC members, Pendleton County Superintendent Anthony Strong and two school board members, Pendleton County Judge Executive David Fields

Fatal truck accident still under investigation

By Jackie Vaughn, News Editor

The truck accident that occurred Saturday, May 23 in Bracken County that injured six Pendleton Countians and fatally wounded one remains under investigation at this time by Trooper Charles Wagner of the Kentucky State Police.

According to police reports, Matthew Gilbert, 27, of Falmouth, operating a 2007 Dodge pickup truck, was traveling northbound on KY 539 when he lost control, went into a spin and struck a tree on the driver's side. Alcohol was a factor in the accident.

Jacob Ammerman, 19, of Falmouth, was sitting in the back seat on the driver's side and was pronounced deceased at the scene.

Matthew Gilbert, Bailey Wanstrath, Tyler Grubb, Zack Partin, David Ishmael and Becca Heiert were treated and taken to different locations for their injuries. They were transported to Meadowview Regional Medical Center in Maysville, University of Cincinnati Medical Center and University of Kentucky Medical Center.

According to various sources, Bailey Wanstrath was taken to Meadowview and then later transported to University of Cincinnati for a broken pelvis, punctured lung and broken scapula. No surgery was required but she will have to undergo extensive physical therapy.

Tyler Grubb was air-cared to University of Cincinnati for head injuries, a and three magistrates, and the mayors of Butler and Falmouth as well as some of their council members. Along with these there were several business owners from the community. The idea was to arrive at four suggestions that the fiscal court, the city councils of Falmouth and Butler and the school board could work to achieve individually or collectively.

Following a time for gathering with refreshments and introductory remarks by Judge Executive David Fields, Superintendent Anthony Strong and Bill Mitchell, Grace Beebe began to field suggestions. In all there were 43 suggestions which were carefully noted by other PCYLC members on large poster board size sheets in plain view for the audience. These suggestions were then voted on to establish the top four vote getters. The ideas were varied and interesting such as: establishing an art guild showcase, establishing a kind of youth apprenticeship program using local businesses to teach students the skills required to work there, creating a fitness and wellness center, creating a small business support group, improving internet service, building a YMCA/YWCA, improving the Pendleton County Facebook page making it user friendly with a clear listing of resources for employment, training, and health, enforcing zoning regulations to deal with dilapidated rental properties and, in keeping with recent state legislation regarding the heroin problem, a syringe access program (SAP).

Following the gathering of ideas everyone present had an opportunity to vote for their top three choices among the 43 suggestions. Of these the top four suggestions were: enhanced tourism and district marketing, increased career and technical educational opportunities, a fitness and wellness center, and better internet connection. The audience was then divided up into four break-out groups so each could discuss ways to implement their particular suggestion from among the top four.

The results of the small group efforts were then reported on to the audience. The enhanced tourism and district marketing group put forward the following ideas: create marketing brochures, always be positive about the community, find out all the community has to offer and build on it. The increased Information will be given on the drug Naloxone, also known as Narcan. Naloxone is a medication known as an 'opium antagonist' and is used to counter the effects of opium overdose such as morphine and heroin overdose.

Training kits are free, but donations are accepted.

Retirement reception for Harper

After serving the students of Pendleton County Schools for 36 years, Pamela Harper is retiring this summer.

Mrs. Harper has been a tireless advocate for the students of Pendleton County Schools. From teacher to administrator, she has served the district in many capacities. Mrs. Harper has never been the type of person to broadcast her accomplishments throughout her career. She's always been more concerned about results rather than accolades. With her retirement announcement, it is finally time to highlight those contributions to Pendleton County Schools which include the following:

- Member of KDE Early Childhood Learning Leadership Network and Northern KY Preschool Cadre 2012-15
- Implemented and supervised a wraparound program for preschoolers with local daycares-2014-15

Not only has Mrs. Harper been a dedicated employee to the school system, but also has been instrumental in many community programs. She is a member and captain of the Kentucky Thoroughbreds - a group of women breast cancer survivors who promote women's health and breast cancer prevention through competing in dragon boat racing in the US and Canada as well as Vice chairman of Paddling for Cancer Awareness nonprofit group which raises funds for local hospitals for breast cancer patients and women's health. She is a member of Pendleton County Champions for a Drug Free Pendleton County, and a member of the Thriving Communities Grant Committee to promote better community living in Pendleton County. She is a Coach for One to One Reading program with Northern and Southern Elementary Schools-reading with students at both schools weekly. She has served as a member of a committee that designed and implemented a leadership program for sophomores and designed and produced a mentorship program for middle school students with business people in the community. She organized and coordinated the first women's softball league for church teams in Pendleton County. She has served as president of Southern Elementary PTSA, and began Santa's workshop. She has served as president of Pendleton County High School PTSA and coordinated Project Grad. She is a member of Town and County Homemakers and Pendleton County Homemakers -past vice president and current secretary. She is a former member of board for Kincaid Regional Theater; is a member of the Oakland Christian Church and have served as teacher, youth leader, Sunday school coordinator. She recently participated in a mission trip to Haiti April 21-28, 2015.

Mrs. Harper's work ethic and love for education and community should inspire us all. She has created an incredible legacy and has positively impacted those around her in Pendleton County and throughout the Commonwealth.

The school system is sponsoring a reception to recognize and thank Mrs. Harper on June 3, 2015 from 4-6 p.m. in the cafeteria at the high school. All are welcome!

Heroin

about heroin facts and gave firsthand accounts of addiction and the aftermath of abuse.

Kentucky State Senator Wil Schroder was the first speaker and talked about the importance of being persistent in heroin awareness.

"We as a group, the NKY Hates Heroin community, we have to continue to get that message out," Schroder said. "We have to continue to wake people up and help them realize how big of a problem this is."

Schroder said that one of the biggest issues he saw as a felony prosecutor was heroin and told stories of constantly seeing heroin needles in parking lots. Despite this, people want to pretend heroin isn't an issue, Schroder said.

"A lot of people, as you know, want to kind of push it under the rug, or ignore it, or pretend it's in their backyard and it's not in their front yard or not in their house," Schroder said. "But we all know otherwise."

Donna Whitehead, a former Falmouth resident, told her story of her daughter Joy's struggle with heroin and drug abuse and the effects it has on a family. Joy graduated from Pendleton County High School and died from a methadone overdose in 2012.

"It became probably the most important thing I feel like I will ever do in my life is to try to save on parent from going through what I've been through," Whitehead said. "To try to have one child that will listen to me, one kid that might look at what I'm doing and think about it before they try it the first time."

Whitehead said the problem is everywhere, not just Pendleton County.

"Heroin was something that I heard about at Woodstock, or it was happening in San Francisco. I didn't know anyone that did heroin," Whitehead said regarding her upbringing. "But it's not like that now. Everyplace you look you're probably seeing somebody that's an addict."

Jason Roop, a public relations coordinator at the Isaiah House, an addiction treatment center in Willisburg, spoke after Whitehead. Before he worked for the Isaiah House, Roop was a client.

"I battled for 17 years," Roop said. "Seventeen years which would see me arrested 18 times, it would see me overdosed four times, it would see me raided by the police twice and it would see me sent to a homeless shelter."

career and technical education group suggested looking into departments of education and labor for grants, connecting local businesses with students in apprenticeships, and having teachers and counselors tour local businesses to learn what is required to work for them. The fitness and wellness center group suggested developing a center in cooperation with the health department and Hammer Strength to provide not only a fitness gym, but classes covering addiction, bullying, nutrition and the like. Also, looking into a 1% sales tax to fund the project. The better internet service group put forward doing a study to determine the real need, contact all providers and see what they can do beyond their current service, and build more towers.

In all, the forum was very well attended and unquestionably achieved a high level of audience participation thanks to the skilled leadership of Grace Beebe with assistance from Allison Lenox, Madison Sydnor, Seth Longworth and the other members of the PCYLC. All of these students are to be commended for a job well done. It is clear that Mr. Mitchell and Ms. Lustenbarg are doing an Roop told his story of his proper upbringing, success as a businessman, downfall to drug addiction and coming clean through religion. Roop said addiction affects every part of your life and everyone in it.

"Addiction will molest every part of the human existence," Roop said.

Eric Specht, creator of NKY Hates Heroin with his wife Holly, told the story of how they started the organization after their son Nicholas died of an overdose in 2013.

Specht said they started NKY Hates Heroin after Holly came up with the idea.

"She said, 'we need to do something about this and I've got an idea.' And we started NKY Hates Heroin. We started a website and it's been all the way, you know, pedal to the metal ever since then."

NKY Hates Heroin's next event is from the second annual NKYHatesHeroin.com 5k Walk/run at 8:30 a.m. on June 6 at Simon Kenton High School, with registration starting at 6:15 a.m. Pre-registration is $25 and in-person registration is $30. Both include event t-shirts.

their achievements throughout the county in regional, district and state competitions, from academic teams from each school to Future Farmers of America, (FFA). Various board members stated how proud they were of these outstanding student achievements and commended the hard work of their sponsors. Pictures can be found on the school's district website.

Following a short recess it was announced that the R.C. Durr Foundation was pleased to announce the winners of the 2015 Technology in Rural High Schools Grants Competition. A total of 34 very meritorious applications from twelve different schools were received. The board is very proud that two of our own were grant recipients. In the school level category, Teri Ziegler received a $15,000 grant for a Vernier Probe System with software for Science classes. And in the faculty Level category, Carrie Wade received a $2000 grant for counseling office tablets for students kiosk for scheduling.

Kristina Sheehy and Tony Dietrich did a presentation on MAP testing or Measurable Academic Progress testing. Dietrich stated that at the high school 54.3% of seniors are career ready and 53.7% of seniors are college ready. A huge increase in student readiness in both areas over last year. The reading plus program identified 200 high school students that were behind in reading skills. Of those 200, 159 posted a 2.3 year average grade increase. That is a very significant gain for reading skills, especially for high school students.

Sheehy spoke specifically about MAP testing as a measure of proficiency and growth using a very fine Power Point to enhance her presentation. MAP testing helps students, teachers and principals set goals for growth for each student. She noted that SES and NES both exceeded their growth projections. Sheehy stressed that there is still much work to be done in refinement of the program and additional helps in reading and math and developing positive relationships with all students. Dr. Nordheim wondered why the second grades seemed to be missing the mark at both elementary schools. "Is it the curriculum?" Sheehy offered as a possible answer that in the second grade it is the first time that the students must read the test on their own. In kindergarten and first grade the test is read to them.

Two members of the audience spoke to the board regarding bullying in our county schools. Shannon Muirheid encouraged the board to create a system whereby parents of the victims and the perpetrators would be notified of any and all incidents of bullying in all our schools on a daily basis. She stressed the importance of parents being informed consistently of their child's behavior in this regard. Muirheid offered her time to work with the school board to get this done. Darrell Dixon also offered strong heartfelt words of encouragement and concern about bullying in the schools to the board, offering his services as well. Strong stated that we do have a lot of programs in place and just this week the annual review of discipline procedures began. Further he encouraged both parents to speak with Joe Buertkley, executive director pupil personnel/student services about this issue as he was currently reviewing the discipline codes of all schools, a process that he goes through each year. Board members expressed their appreciation for the courage of the speakers and commended them for their ideas.

Kerri Schelling of the Kentucky School Board Association (KSBA) did a presentation of the KSBA eSurvey for the board to consider adopting it as a tool to identify system wide concerns. This survey would be completed online by all employees of the county and look at whatever focal points a committee, made up of persons from all areas of work within the school system, would decide upon. The benefits of the eSurvey are: to provide district wide feedback from a survey customized by the district, to establish trend data covering a variety of areas of concern and, provide strict anonymity for all participants.

Schelling went on to say that the process works like this: meet with survey committee from all areas of work, (custodians to superintendent) use their input to develop the survey. Next all employees complete the survey. Then, reports are generated by KSBA which include an overall summary and disaggregated, or separated into its component parts on a given variable such as, the various levels of personnel.

Nordheim wanted to know how many districts have used the eSurvey. Schelling said nine. Bertram wondered what the average level of participation is. Schelling said 87-90% at each district. Strong asked how we might go about doing this survey. Schelling stated that all that is needed is a commitment. Strong then went on to say if this is something the board would like to do they can look at it and, they can afford it.

Moving to the action agenda the board approved the following items: an independent auditor's contract with Kelly, Galloway, Smith for 2015, a 2015-16 insurance renewal package, approval to use emergency substitutes, a new professional growth evaluation system (PGES). As sited above the 2015-16 balanced budget was approved which included the four positions added at the previous two board meetings.

At this point Jan Johnson presented an explanation about the School Report Card Data tab entitled "Expenditures on Administration." This was in response to a point raised by Utz at the April 4 special called board meeting. He wanted to know why there was such a huge increase in administrative expenses over the last three years, $1.1 million. Clearly this does seem excessive especially if one assumes that this increase is administrative salaries alone. Johnston proceeded to explain, in considerable detail, all that went into the increase, which is 28.2% or $730,170.

When one looks at the details, which the school board members have access to, the first thing that becomes apparent is salaries are but one part of the picture. There are in actuality 27 expenditure types from the Fund One account, and eight expenditure types from Fund 2 for a total of 35 expenditure types. These are all under three major headings: District Admin Support, School Admin support, and business support services - which includes all expenses for superintendent's office, principal's office, and finance and technology offices. So the difference between 2011-12 and 2013-14 for all 35 categories is $730,170 or 28.2%. When considering salaries alone from these three major headings and from among those same years, the increase is 17.1%. If one just looks at the expenditures in the area of technology there was an $111,319 increase due in large part to the addition of new computers in all the schools for students and teachers in 2013-14, which represents a 105.4% increase in the same headings for those same years. Also, in other purchased services such as insurance, the increase was $170,238, which accounts for an increase of 130.9% in that type.

It is interesting to note that for Instructional Staff Support, according to the KDE school report card, and again for all its various categories including salaries for teachers, the increase is 89.4%. At this point it is still nuclear where Utz came up with the $1.1 million number.

Strong also spoke to a point that Nordheim raised at the April 4 special called meeting regarding the total number of administrators added during Strong's tenure which showed on the chart that she handed out as an increase of 5.5 administrators from 2011-12 to 2013-14. It turns out that the number 5.5 is simply the difference between persons listed as certified employees and the classroom teachers among them. Certified employees include anyone in the school system that has a certificate issued from the Educational Professional Standards Board, which is administrators, but also includes counselors, speech therapists, psychologists, librarians, athletic directors and classroom teachers. In point of fact the administrative staff in the school system is one more in 2014-15 than in 2011-12, but the number will be reduced by one in 2015-16.

Item F on the action agenda generated considerable discussion. It was the 2015-16 salary schedule. Nordheim was concerned that the system as it stands is not equitable, which is why she voted against last year's salary schedule. Three years ago Strong and the board moved to change the salary schedule from a system where following the first year of teaching there would be an incremental increase in pay each year up to the tenth year.

Following one's tenth year of experience there were no pay increases per year until the fifteenth, twentieth and twenty fifth years of teaching respectively. That system was changed to an incremental system in which one's pay for each year, following the first year, went up and continued to do so up to the completion of one's twenty seventh year of teaching. Each year of experience in the new system is referred to as a step. The increase as given by the board would be 1% per year plus any additional increase mandated by the state. As in the old system there are still increases in pay upon the completion of one's master's degree and for what is called Rank I, or the completion of thirty hours of graduate college credit beyond the master's degree.

Strong stated that once we get to the point where we have equal steps we can begin to work back from 27 years based on the kind of competitive pay we as a county want to offer, but we have to go through this transition to get to year 27. To equalize the schedule now, as Nordheim is suggesting, requires more revenue. The process is moving to the new system, it simply takes time. Utz asked how much time. Strong said we are at different points with each rank. The vote to accept the 2015-16 salary schedule as presented by Strong was approved, Utz, Spence and Bertram voted yes. Nordheim voted no.

The payroll/pay date schedule was approved for the 2015-16 school year.

The board announced that a Twenty First Century Learning grant of $650,000 was awarded to SES. The program will begin in the fall of 2015. It will support students at SES specifically to address the achievement gap and put these students on the road to success. SES already has dedicated staff working toward this goal but that is not enough. Research states that these students need extra support beyond the school day, along with summer activities to prevent "summer slide." It is believed that this grant will provide our students this opportunity. The primary goals of the grant are to increase student achievement, reduce risk-taking behavior, and provide balanced programming opportunities for at risk children and their families.

The grant requires a full time staff member to oversee the program and the board agreed to look into finding this person to start on July 1, 2015. Along with the teaching staff to work directly with the children, free after-school and summer childcare will be provided for the families and transportation routes will be provided to reduce the cost of travel for the families. Congratulations to Laura Pugh, principal of SES, and all others who worked to make this grant possible from all members of the board and Superintendent Strong.

The consent agenda items A-E and G-I were approved.

Following executive session, during which no action was taken, the meeting was adjourned.

bloom," Huffman said. "We're hoping that we're going to be back on track within the next three weeks."

Due to the nature of the season, the market decided to keep things simpler for the grand opening. Instead the market will host an appreciation event later in the season on Saturday, July 25. The event will feature live music and cooking demonstrations.

Huffman said the market gives the community access to fresh food that's hard to come by with the county's limited resources.

"We offer all Kentucky Proud, Kentucky fresh produce, and that gives a little bit more access to food in the community," Huffman said. "We put a face with our products so you can build a relationship with the farmers."

Huffman said the market has seen healthy expansion over the past several years and there are plans to potentially add a new location in Butler that would run weekly from July to September.

All vendors go through training and are certified in good agricultural practices, Huffman said. The market accepts Senior Farmers Market Nutrition Program vouchers and WIC Farmers Market Nutrition Program vouchers.

The Farmers Market is open every Saturday from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. or until the market sells out at the vacant lot between Barnes Hardware and KOI Auto Parts. The market will run May through November.

PUBLIC NOTICE

City of Falmouth Swimming Pool Regulations

The City of Falmouth Zoning Ordinance requires all permanent and temporary swimming pools designed to hold water at a depth greater than eighteen (18) inches to be placed in either the side yard or rear yard of the property. In addition, a fence or wall with a self latching gate must be installed around the pool or around the property containing the pool. The fence or wall must be a minimum of four (4) feet in height and constructed in a manner to keep a child from accessing the pool from an adjacent property or street. The wall of an above ground pool or combination of pool wall and fencing is allowed to serve as a barrier if the wall/fencing is at least four (4) feet above the surrounding ground level. Violations may be subject to penalties as provided in KRS 100.991.

Zoning Permits are required to ensure pool regulations are met.

Senator Wil Schroder's legislative update

With summertime and the end of the school year rapidly approaching, Kentuckians across the Commonwealth are gearing up for a relaxing and fun-filled three months. In my role as your state senator serving on the Senate Economic Development and Tourism Committee, I have learned much about Kentucky tourism. I hope you will take some time this summer to explore all that Kentucky has to offer and perhaps even play tourist in your own backyard.

Whether it's taking a road trip to a different region of Kentucky or just visiting a locally owned restaurant in your hometown, you will surely discover that Kentucky has much to offer. Between the diverse natural beauty and friendly faces in every town, it's a vacation destination you never have to leave.

Summer vacation is a great time to visit our state capital and explore the rich history of our Commonwealth. It's also a great time to see what goes on behind the scenes of the official legislative session. Starting in June, Joint Interim Committee (IJC) Meetings will be held in Frankfort and throughout the state. During this period, senators and representatives regularly convene assigned committees and hear about issues that are facing the Commonwealth; many that may result in legislation during our next session. These meetings are incredibly important to our understanding and education as we continue to seek good public policy.

I am excited to begin working with these committees and serving our district and state during my first Interim Session. Meetings are open to the public to attend. If you can't make it but are still interested, you can follow the activity of the committees in a variety of ways. Many of these are broadcast on KET's website, www.ket.org/publicaffairs and archived. Schedules and more information can be found at the LRC's website, www.lrc.ky.gov. Please feel free to contact me about your issues and concerns at 1-800-372-7181 or wil.schroder@lrc.ky.gov. Thank you for the opportunity to serve you.

A Brilliant Student

By Daris Howard

David was an incredibly brilliant student, but sometimes that was almost his downfall. For example, my students were supposed to write a program called Twenty-one where two players would take turns removing from one to three items out of twenty-one. The goal was to force your opponent to remove the last one.

We were programming on an old Unix system through terminals. The graphics were ugly and the interface was limited. All I asked them to do was a fairly simple input and an output of how many items were left at each step. But David couldn't stop there. He created a program with images that I hadn't even dreamed was possible on a terminal display. It showed twenty-one little robots and one big one. Once a person chose a number, the big robot would turn and shoot that many little robots.

The only problem with all of this was that while David was programming it, the assignment became two weeks overdue, plus we had already had two more. When he showed it to me, I was astounded. I couldn't really flunk him with his incredible talent, but I didn't know how to grade him on the things that he missed. I scolded him a bit about not doing the work assigned, but I couldn't doubt his ability.

One day David signed on to a bulletin board where engineers and computer scientists were discussing an unsolved problem that had been around for about ten years. David added his thoughts about a certain way it might be done. The group moderator came unglued, telling David he was new to the group and didn't know what he was talking about. He asked David his age, and when David responded that he was eighteen, the moderator went berserk, calling David all sorts of mean things, and saying that the problem was unsolvable and a computer program for it could not be written.

David didn't get ruffled at all. Instead, he worked on the problem, then brought it to me. I went through it with him, and found his work to be incredible. I only found a few slight math errors, which we fixed. With that, he said he was going to code it.

"But, David," I said, "even if this program can be written, the intensity of it is almost overwhelming."

"That's what makes it fun," he replied. "But there is one problem. If I put all of my time into this, I'm not sure I can pass your class."

I thought about it and then said, "David, I really should expect you to do the assignments in my class, but if you can program this, I promise I will pass you."

He smiled and left to go to work. I didn't see him for about four weeks, and when he came back, he looked like he hadn't slept since we last spoke. But he was smiling and happy. He held up a paper. "I did it."

"Did you share your work with the programming group on the bulletin board?" I asked.

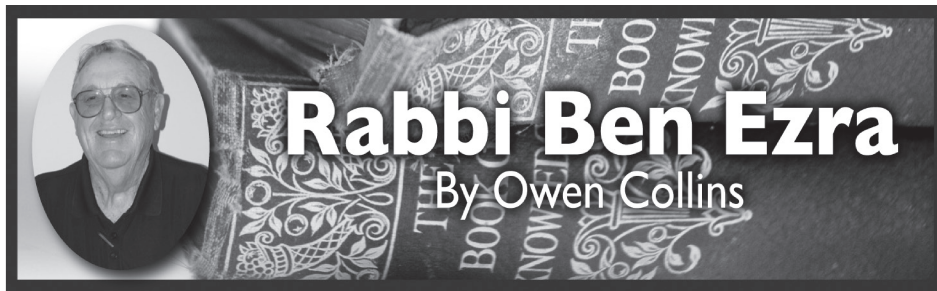

He nodded. "That's what this paper is. It's their feedback. Here, read it."

I read the comments from the other programmers who had tested his code, and though they found minor errors, David had been able to do what many said was impossible. They were all amazed. But the best comment was the one from the moderator. It said, "To Mr. David Patterson: We would like to offer you a job with our company, and my boss told me to propose a starting wage at four times the normal — a wage that is double mine, and I have worked here for over twenty years. In addition, I have been told that if I don't apologize, I will lose my job. I truly am sorry for the inappropriate things I said, and I hope you will forgive me and consider employment with us."

When I finished reading it, David smiled at me. "Well, do I pass the class?"

I laughed. "I think you can safely assume you passed."

Rabbi Ben Ezra

By Owen Collins

Graduation of Lexington Christian Academy Class of 2015

Janice Collins and I converged on the Immanuel Baptist Church in Lexington on May 23 for the graduation of our granddaughter, Natalie Taylor Collins, daughter of Lisa McClees Collins and Kevin Collins. We joined the maternal Grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wireman for this important milestone.

This church is located off Tates Creek Road and seats approximately 750. We had encountered some heavy traffic as we arrived in Lexington and our arrival time was a scant 15 minutes before the scheduled opening. Already the lower seats were at near capacity and since we had several who wanted to be seated close to each other we had to go to the balcony to find contiguous seats. One hundred and eight graduates were marching in as we found our seats.

This was the 25th anniversary of LCA and the headmaster, Dr. Ollie E. Gibbs, spoke glowingly of the Class of 2015 and its accomplishments. Outstanding achievement in sports, music and art, and academic disciplines...too numerous to identify in this short essay. Two other achievements caught my attention.

The average ACT score for the class was 26+. I recall when I was Dean at Lees College in Jackson: the average of entering freshmen was 15; Morehead was 17; Eastern was 18; and UK was 21. Keep in mind that the maximum score attainable on the ACT is 36 and one can see that such a high level of a class is mind-boggling!

Then, he mentioned that many of this graduating class had gone on week-long mission trips to various parts of the world; Germany, Sweden, United Kingdom, Belize, and Columbia, to name just a few of many locations. Natalie had gone to the latter two and it was thrilling to hear her discuss the high level of interaction which she had experienced with young persons of her approximate age in visited nations. Amazing opportunities to broaden one's horizons and to effect some worthwhile values in a world dominated by material things.

Another interesting dimension of this class: As each came forward to receive his or her diploma, the MC mentioned where each was going to college. UK was the largest destination in number by far, but others were scattered throughout the Commonwealth as well as several beyond our borders. Amazingly, each student was planning to attend college.

I believe that this is education in the best sense: High academic standards; strong, competitive athletic teams; strong, competitive fine arts, a well disciplined student body; an able and dedicated faculty and staff who regard their profession as a divine calling...all in a faith based curriculum and environment.

Admittedly, this model of education is elitist and not feasible for many American families because it is expensive; it requires a commitment and involvement of the student's family that is extraordinary because parents must transport their children to and from school and pay for their lunches. But discipline problems are minimal because parents have too much involved to allow their children to misbehave and jeopardize their investments.

Will this niche education continue to flourish as it has during the past 25 years? Will there be a demand sufficient to make it financially feasible? If drugs continue to escalate and marijuana becomes legalized on a widespread basis; if bullying continues to be a major problem in the public schools and the principal is not afforded the freedom and backing to maintain discipline among the student body; if dress and behavior are not restrained, it is likely that families who desire the best for their children will continue to seek alternatives such as LCA above!

Note 1. Edited by Janice Collins and the Phantom Lady

Note 2. The above is not meant to denigrate the many excellent teachers and administrators in our public schools, for many work and toil under many adverse circumstances such as children from broken homes and one or no parents and a government that has tied their hands with excessive rules and regulations.

Note 3. We kicked Christianity and the Ten Commandments out the door of our public schools and they have been steadily declining since!

Wildcats fall to Cardinals at Regionals

In the state of Kentucky, a match-up of the Wildcats versus the Cardinals is a huge deal.

And for the Pendleton County Wildcats Baseball team, their first round match-up with the George Rogers Clark Cardinals was a huge deal. It was the culmination of a season long goal to make the 10th Region Tournament for the first time since 2006.

These Cardinals bested these Wildcats, 5-0, as they held Pendleton's bats quiet throughout the 7 inning, two day length game. The Wildcats managed only a first day double from Jonah Smith and a second day single by Hunter Lea.

After a 12 inning classic game from Harrison County and Campbell County, the region game for Pendleton started two hours late on Memorial Day.

After a scoreless inning from both teams, GRC broke through on Wildcat lefty, Josh Brown, with an unearned run to take a 1-0 lead. Clark County would tack on another run when they went deep and gave them a 2-0 cushion.

After three innings complete, the rain fell and the field became unplayable.

Pendleton would have to travel to Winchester on Tuesday, May 26th to play the final four innings.

NFHS baseball high school rules read that a pitcher who has completed three innings must have a day's rest, prohibiting Josh from returning to the mound.

Recent Alice Lloyd signee Robbie Gaskins got the call to take the mound. He held GRC scoreless through his first inning, but a leadoff single and walk came around to score and the Cats trailed 4-0 after five. They tacked on another run in the bottom of the 6th and held a 5-0 lead as the Cats came to bat in the top of the 7th.

While managing only one hit through the first six innings, Pendleton did have a mini-rally in the 5th inning. James Wolfe led off with a walk and the Cardinals pitcher couldn't find the strike zone. But James was erased off the base path attempted to steal second and the Cats began to swing at balls out of the strike zone.

After the first two outs of the 7th inning was recorded, Pendleton tried to find some rally magic.

Tenth Region All-Tournament team member Hunter Lea lined a single up the middle and Jonah Smith worked a walk to put two on with two out. Cardinals got that last out, though, and the Wildcats season ended.

With a 12-13-1 record, the Cats season did end but it ended in a place that had been a long time in the making, the 10th Region Baseball Tournament.

Wildcats named All-District

From left: Hunter Lea and Will Redden were chosen for the 38th District Baseball All Tournament Team by a committee. Both had key hits in the comeback victory over Nicholas County.

Special Olympics holds fishing tournament

By Andrea Brueggen, Reporter

The 38th Special Olympics Fishing Tournament held on Saturday, May 9 was the highly renowned organization's most successful event to date in this area. Sponsored by the Fifth District Federation of Sportsmen, over 300 olympians, parents, and volunteers enjoyed a day of fishing, food and fun at the Bob White Club Lake in Claryville, Ky.

There were over 530 fish caught along with some turtles and snakes, to make this day one they will all remember.

Veteran Bill Ashcraft was passionate this year with the promotion of this event. The money raised provided many prizes, equipment, and food for this day. He was also able to have the Army Reserve 478 come out and treat the participants to a look at their equipment and trucks.

Midge Elmore and her family gave many volunteer hours preparing and coordinating this tournament. These members go out of their way each year to make this fishing tournament as special as these handicapped children. This marked the 38th year for this meaningful tradition.

This successful event was possible due to the generosity of these extraordinary people who make this a wonderful day for these special Olympians.

PCHS to host basketball camp

Pendleton County coaching staff and current JV and varsity players will be offering a basketball camp this summer from June 15-18. The purpose of this camp is to introduce, improve, and reinforce the fundamental skills of basketball. There will also be competition among campers for prizes as well as league games.

The camp is organized into two separate instructional sessions to better accommodate the needs of the individual campers.

For students entering 2nd grade - 5th grade, camp times are 8-11 a.m. For students entering 6th grade - 9th grade, camp times are 12-3 p.m.

The cost is $50. Make checks or money orders payable to Head Basketball Coach Keaton Belcher at (859) 322-6327.

PCHS Boosters Football Camp

The Pendleton County High School Football Boosters and Edwards will be sponsoring a PCHS Football Youth Camp. The camp will be conducted by the PCHS football team and coaching staff.

The camp will be held at Veteran's Field at Phillip

Sharp Middle School. The camp will be on Saturday, June 6. Registration is from 8-9 a.m. and the camp is from 9 a.m.- 12 p.m.

Participants of the camp must be in 1st-8th grade in the upcoming 2015-2016 school year. The cost is $15 per participant.

BERLIN BAPTIST

We invite all to come and worship with our family of believers. Sunday services begin with Sunday school at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and Sunday night services are held at 7 p.m.

This past Sunday we were blessed with a sermon from Brother Andrew Bishop. Brother Bishop's message was taken from John 1:1-14 and titled "Does Your Light Shine for Jesus the Way it should?"

BUTLER BAPTIST

Brother Dean Moore brought the message from Romans 8:18-25.

We ask why things happen. God is never farther away from us than we are from him. Original sin causes the chaotic condition that exists in our lives. We long for the time we are redeemed from the evil world. We don't have answers. Christ is the one we need to turn to in times of trials. We need to remember Gods promises. He will never leave us. God answers every prayer. God loves us in spite of what we have done.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE

Our Pentecost Sunday message was titled "The Works of the Holy Spirit."

On the day of Pentecost, the 120 were filled with the empowerment of the Holy Spirit and 3000 souls were saved.

There were two points to the message: 1. "The Holy Spirit dwells in the heart of the believer." The Corinthian believers were unaware that the Holy Spirit had taken up residence within their hearts. There is no greater privilege on the face of the earth than to serve as the house or temple for the Spirit of God. 2. "The Holy Spirit dwells within to help us bring our mind and lives into harmony with God's Will." It is impossible to have the mind of Christ without the help of God's Spirit. We can not be completely transformed and made into the likeness of God's Son without the power of the Holy Spirit.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

As we celebrated Memorial Day, Bro. Cohen's message was "How will people remember you when you pass this life?" Did we have a life with Christ or a life without him? For many people, living a Godly life has become a way of life. Like those people, we need to show and demonstrate Christ to our fellow man. Will you be known as a servant of God who followed Jesus faithfully? Don't be so busy living this life that you forget to prepare for eternity.

Vacation Bible School is just around the corner. Everest: Conquering Challenges with God's Mighty Power will take place from 6:30 - 8:30, Sunday, June 21, through Friday, June 26. Mark your calendars and join us for the life-changing adventure. We will gladly pre-register your child now.

Great things are happening at Falmouth Baptist Church. Come worship with us!

FIRST BAPTIST

Mike Whaley blessed us with a patriotic song for special music on this Memorial Day week-end. Bro. Harry's message, "Never Forget," was taken from Exodus. People recognize miracles and blessings, but too often forget about them. Memorial Day is a time to remember our men and women who have paid the ultimate sacrifice for their country. It's also a time to remember our loved ones who have gone on before and honor them. We can never forget those who have given us the freedoms we have today.

At the close of our services we recognized our veterans in attendance.

Congratulations to Adam and Alison Crozier on the birth of their third child, a daughter, Annabel Catherine!

Pray for those in need of peace, hope, healing and love. "They gave their tomorrows for our today's."

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

Sunday dawned a beautiful, warm, sunny day. What a great time of year!

Kathie told the children in Children's Moments that Memorial Day was a great time for picnics, swimming and parties. She reminded them it was also a time to honor our veterans and remember our family members who have gone on before us.

Steve Wood led our worship service. He reminded us this is Pentecost Sunday and Memorial Day Weekend. He gave the history of Veterans and Memorial Day. Steve also spoke about our time and money. We are each given 86,400 seconds in each day as a gift of life. The seconds we don't use are gone forever. Make the most of it.

Movie night at Dawn and Steve's at 8 p.m., Saturday, May 30.

Don't complain about growing old. Some people don't get that privilege.

NEW HOPE

Graduation is a time to make choices. After a senior in high school graduates they must begin to choose the path they will take as an adult. Will they go to college, join the military, learn a trade, work on a farm, or find a company to work for? These choices will help determine what they will do with the rest of their lives. These are important decisions that one should think long and hard about. In this life we have another important decision that will last longer than our careers. Our decision on whether to accept Christ as our Savior or reject Him will determine where we will spend eternity. This is a decision that we should think about very carefully. After this life is over, whatever decision we made is final. What is your decision?

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

"Simply Gotta Remember" was the title of our message. We should remember those who protect and died for us. But we should never forget the one who died for all of us!

We recognized our graduates May 31. Christina Herron is our PCHS graduate.

"Survivor Sunday" (associated with Pendleton Co. Relay for Life) is July 12, 2015.

PINE GROVE

Bro. Ron chose as his text Acts 2:1-21 which is based on Pentecost Day.

When Pentecost Day arrived, Jesus and his disciples were gathered together. At this point Matthias had been added to the group to replace Judas. Suddenly a sound from heaven like the howling of a fierce wind filled the entire house where they were sitting. What seemed to be individual flames of fire alighted on each of them. They were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other languages as the Spirit enabled them to speak.

Crowds gathered around who had come from many nations and heard them speaking in their native languages. The listeners were both amazed and perplexed, and Peter saw the need to arise and speak explaining that this is what was spoken through the prophet Joel, found in Acts 2:17-21 explaining the last days and when the Lord comes everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved.

Prayer concerns: Fern Martin, Wilma McClanahan, Alta Gaunce, and the families of Helen Norris Wilson and Jacob Ammerman.

PLEASANT RIDGE

Happy 50th Wedding Anniversary Bro. Rick and Gail.

Bro. Rick's message was from Luke 5:1-11. We live in the land of the free and home of the brave. We pray that it won't turn into the land of the fearful. There are so many concerns of things going on in our great country. Our view as Christians is God sent his son to overcome these fears. When we come to God's throne we are called to do a job for him. God may ask you again to try even if you have failed in the past.

Is fear keeping you from doing something for the Lord? Being committed and steadfast in your faith will make the fear go away.

Evening Bible study 6 p.m.

SOUTHSIDE

The morning worship service opened with the pledge of allegiance to the American flag, the Christian flag and the Holy Bible. We recognized those who have served in the United States Military. The opening hymn was "God Is So Good." Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Memorial Day 2015," from 1 Thessalonians 4:13-18. Brother Clay preached on three characteristics that we observe Memorial Day weekend: The past the present, and the future. The memory verse for the week comes from 1 Thessalonians 4:14, "We believe that Jesus died and rose again and so we believe that God will bring with Jesus those who have fallen asleep in Him." Worship with us Sunday: 9 a.m. Sunday school and 10 a.m. worship service.

TURNER RIDGE

"Prayer: For Our Country," was the message from Bro. Dale this Memorial Day weekend. Bro. Dale recognized the soldiers in the service and had prayer for those who had served our country.

During the children's message "The Bush That Would Not Burn Up" the kids were given a demonstration of how quickly a bush would burn and how only God could have spoke to Moses through the burning bush.

Adam Duncan read scripture, Proverbs 21:1-2, and we had a great time of worship. Please remember those in need of prayer and the families that have lost loved ones.

Pray for the media and entertainment industries

Finally, brothers, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is commendable, if there is any excellence, if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things. Philippians 4:8

Chuck Klosterman, pop culture expert and author says this about media and entertainment: "Pundits are always blaming TV for making people stupid, movies for desensitizing the world to violence, and rock music for making kids take drugs and kill themselves. These things should be the least of our worries. The main problem with mass media is that it makes it impossible to fall in love with any acumen of normalcy. There is no 'normal,' because everybody is being twisted by the same sources simultaneously."

It's a tragedy in today's world that there's no sense of this "normal." Hollywood and Big Media celebrate the degradation of our society, they lift up and publicize the abnormal and sinful. They celebrate the most morally compromised and confused among us. The enemy has risen up and negatively influenced each and every aspect of America, especially Hollywood and those whom we have trusted to report facts, arguably the most influential aspect of today's culture.

If we were to truly pray and then act upon Philippians 4:8, there would be no more twisting and perverting the news and entertainment that gets broadcast and shown all over the country. We need to pray for those in these industries. We need to pray they will focus their efforts on things that are true, things that honor God and his creation, things that are just and fair, things that are pure, things that are lovely and commendable, things that are excellent, and things that are worthy of praise to God the Father.

Those that are in these industries and struggle daily to be pure and devoted to our Lord's commandments deserve our prayers. Pray for their courage and integrity this day. Pray that God will bless them with gifts to shine in this ever-darkening world. Pray His light will shine through them.

Safe canning practices keep everyone healthy

Gardens are beginning to bear the fruits of our labor. Soon it will be time to start thinking about preserving some of the excess produce for winter months. Safety is of utmost importance for those of us who will be preserving food because, let's face it, no one wants to get sick from poorly processed food.

Bacteria, molds and yeast can grow quickly on fresh foods, and fruits and vegetables contain oxygen and enzymes that can cause food to spoil. Safe home canning methods help prevent the growth of these bacteria, yeast and molds in addition to removing excess oxygen from the food, which destroys spoilage enzymes and helps form strong vacuum seals on the jars.

You should remember several key points of proper food preservation to keep yourself and your family healthy and safe from botulism, which can be a deadly form of food poisoning.

Despite what you may find on the web or social media, only two methods are acceptable for home canning safe, quality products: the boiling water and the pressure canner methods. The type of food you are preserving will dictate which method to use. Boiling water canners can be used on fruits and other products that have a high concentration of acid, such as salsas or pickles with enough lemon juice or vinegar added. Acid helps prevent the growth of harmful bacteria in canned food. Vegetables, poultry and meats do not contain enough acid to prevent the growth of bacteria. For these foods, a boiling water canner will not reach a high enough temperature to destroy the bacteria that can cause botulism, so you must use a pressure canner to ensure safe processing.

Make sure to use up-to-date equipment that's in proper working condition. It's never a good idea to purchase a pressure canner at a yard sale, as replacement parts and manufacturer's instructions may no longer be available. Pressure canners made after 1997 were designed with more safety features and weigh less than older canners. Follow the manufacturer's instructions on canner care and maintenance. For dial gauge pressure canners, the accuracy of the gauge should be tested each year. This can be done at your local Extension office.

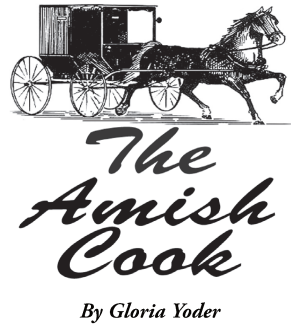

Remember to always use tested, research-based recipes to preserve foods. These recipes are available in Cooperative Extension Service home canning publications, in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Complete Guide to Home Canning or on the National Center for Home Food Preservation's website. Follow each recipe as closely as possible. Do not make additions or changes unless options are provided in the recipe. Not following the recipe precisely or using a recipe that is not research-based, may not completely kill all bacteria and result in sickness.

Use only Mason-type canning jars and self-sealing lids. Do not reuse old jars like those that previously contained peanut butter or mayonnaise. After processing, allow the jars to cool naturally. This helps form a good vacuum seal.

More information on safe food preservation is available at the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Growing veggies for a spring salad

We found a red strawberry that is ready to eat!" I smiled. What a joy to see my little daughter all excited to share her good news with daddy!

Austin, who is 6 months old, thrives on being outdoors as well. He waves his arms with delight when I open the door to take him outside with me. He loves sitting in the yard picking on blades of grass while I work in the garden. Unfortunately, though, he's usually finished playing before I've completed my hoeing! Julia likes to help pull weeds but as a 3-year-old you can imagine how long the novelty of pulling weeds lasts!

Gardening with little ones can be a challenge. I often remind myself that my children are so much more important than our garden. A beautiful weed-free garden doesn't compare with the hearts and lives of our dear little ones who are being shaped and molded not only for life but also for eternity.

So far our garden seems to be doing well. This year Daniel tilled another plot for a new garden. It is more than double the size of our old one. Hopefully we'll have an ample supply of garden goodies to eat fresh, put in the freezer and to can. Growing veggies and preserving them for my family to enjoy during the winter months gives me such a feeling of satisfaction.

Recently, Daniel came in the kitchen with a surprise for me. I was astonished! He found three shoots of fresh asparagus growing close to the pasture. I was totally impressed. I love asparagus but never had a patch of my own. As he handed it to me I promptly popped some in my mouth. Mmm, it tasted so delicious, healthy and green!

Facts about ticks part 1 of 3

Few pests evoke as many questions from people as ticks. Besides their repulsive appearance, ticks are vectors of potentially debilitating and life-threatening diseases. Lyme disease, in particular, has attracted national attention and is now the number one arthropod-borne disease in the United States. Although Lyme disease is more prevalent in eastern and midwestern states, media coverage has prompted many questions and concerns from citizens here in Kentucky. This publication provides answers to often asked questions about ticks and the diseases they may transmit.

I've been finding ticks on my child/pet. Where do they come from, and what can I do to prevent further occurrences?

Ticks prefer to live in woods, tall grass, weeds and brush. They climb onto low vegetation and attach to suitable hosts which pass by, including pets and people. Ticks are seldom a problem in well maintained lawns, although edges of property supporting tall weeds and brush can be a source of infestation. The best way to avoid acquiring ticks is through prevention:

1. Avoid walking through uncut fields, brush and other areas likely to harbor ticks. When hiking or picnicing in these areas, wear long pants tucked into socks and consider using tick repellents. Walk in the center of mowed trails to avoid brushing up against vegetation.
2. Inspect family and pets after being in tick-infested areas, and promptly remove any ticks which are found (ticks most often attach at the neck and scalp). Use the method of removal described below.
3. Keep grass and shrubs in your yard trimmed, and clear overgrown vegetation from edges of your property. Ticks avoid direct sunlight and will not infest areas which are well maintained.
4. Free-roaming pets are much more likely to become infested with ticks than are those which are confined. Pets may be treated with insecticide dips or sprays, although these products generally lose effectiveness in about a week.
5. Treating lawns is of little benefit since this is not a preferred habitat for ticks. If insecticides are used, treatment should be concentrated in areas where pets, rodents, and other potential wild hosts of ticks are likely to frequent, e.g., dog house, fenceline, and along margins between wooded or brushy areas and the lawn. Carbaryl (Sevin), chlorpyrifos, and diazinon are effective materials, as is permethrin. Make 1-2 applications - the first during April or May when ticks are detected, and another, if needed, in early July. A good way to determine if ticks are present is to drag a 3x3-ft white flannel or cotton sheet through suspected areas. Ticks will attach to the sheet and be visible against the white background.

What's the best way to remove an attached tick?

Using fine-point tweezers, grasp the tick just behind the point of attachment and pull slowly and steadily until the tick is dislodged. Vaseline, matches and other alternate methods of removal should be avoided. Wash the bite area, apply antiseptic and cover with a band-aid.

Caution! Pesticide recommendations in this publication are registered for use in Kentucky, USA only! The use of some products may not be legal in your state or country. Please check with your local county agent or regulatory official before using any pesticide mentioned in this publication.

Of course, always read and follow label directions for safe use of any pesticide!

4-H Culture Club explores french cuisine

The Middle School 4-H Club has concluded their journey for the Cultural Series by making their final stop at France!

Club members learned about the French culture and food and viewed pictures while hearing stories shared by Jennifer Owen, who recently spent several months in France. Thank you Jennifer for helping to diversify our club!

The final field trip for this series involved a trip to Jungle Jim's where students were able to walk the grocery isles labeled different countries with shelves stocked with foods specific to that country while also being able to taste test different foods. Club members then traveled to La Petite France for some fine French dining. Here the Middle School 4-H Club indulged in salad, Poulet au Porto, which is a chicken breast tenderloin sautéed with a white port, mushroom cream sauce served with potatoes and vegetables, and Crème Brulee for dessert.

As we wrap up the Cultural Series, the Middle School 4-H Club was able to visit Mexico, Italy, Thailand, Serbia and France.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY PENDLETON CIRCUIT COURT CASE NO. 14-CI-00110

ALLAN F. FLEMING, JR.

v.

JAMES BOGGS
 UNKNOWN SPOUSE OF JAMES BOGGS
 UNKNOWN HEIRS, SUCCESSORS, AND ASSIGNS OF JAMES BOGGS
 SOUTHERN TAX SERVICES, LLC
 COUNTY OF PENDLETON

DEFENDANTS

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale the Pendleton Circuit Court rendered May 6, 2015 in the above action, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Pendleton County Judicial Center at Falmouth Kentucky to the highest and best bidder at public auction on June 11, 2015 at the hour of 10:00 a.m. the following described property: Lying and being in the County of Pendleton and the State of Kentucky, and on the waters of Grassy Creek, it being the survey of John Cahill February 16, 1887 for B. F. Fisk on the county road leading from O.H.P. Smiths to Gardnersville and bounded as follows:

Beginning at a stone in center of said road near the house of James Boggs, thence N 52 W 19 1/7 poles to a stone in James Belew's line and with the same N 78 E 14 1/2 poles to a stone in the center of county road and with the same S 14 E 8 1/2 poles to a stone, thence S 12 1/2 W 6 1/3 poles to the beginning, containing an acre, more or less.

SOURCE OF TITLE: Being the same property acquired by James Boggs by deed from B. F. Fisk, et ux., dated 8 June 1889 and recorded at Deed Book 40, page 180, Pendleton County Court Clerk's Office, Falmouth, Kentucky.

This property is being sold to produce the sum of $610.58, plus interest per diem from 3 July 2014 until judgment at the rate of $0.20 per day, together with interest at the statutory rate of 12% from date of entry of Judgment in this case until paid, plus any continuing costs and attorney fees.
 The property shall be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

- 1) The purchaser shall be required to pay ten percent (10%) of the purchase price on the date of the sale, to apply on the purchase price;
- 2) The balance of the purchase price shall be due and payable, in cash or certified funds, within sixty (60) days from the date of sale;
- 3) The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety thereon for the unpaid balance of the purchase price, said bond to bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, until paid;
- 4) The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal, together with all accrued interest thereon;
- 5) The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay any and all ad valorem taxes on the subject property for the current year, and all subsequent taxes;
- 6) The subject property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and claims of any party to this action, except restrictions and easements thereon appearing of record in the Pendleton County Clerk's Office, if any;
- 7) Possession of the subject property shall be given to the purchaser upon confirmation of Commissioner's sale, and the Defendants or any persons claiming through them shall have vacated the premises by that time;
- 8) Said property shall be sold subject to:
 - a. Assessments for public improvements levied against the subject property;
 - b. Existing zoning ordinances, statutes, laws, or regulations;
 - c. Any facts which an accurate survey or inspection of the property may disclose.

Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Sts. Peter & Paul offers preschool through 8th grade.
 The class sizes are small, and the safe, rural environment is conducive to learning.

DREAM IT, BELIEVE IT, ACHIEVE IT.

"Sts. Peter and Paul School is a community of teachers, students, and parents where everyone plays an important role. The teachers work closely together with each other and with parents to meet the needs of all students, from Pre-K through 8th grade. The staff also regularly communicates with parents so that they can be involved in the learning process as well. As teachers, we have high expectations of our students, and we strive for challenging them in caring and fun classrooms."

-Michelle Yelton,
 8 year veteran Junior High teacher at SPP

"Sts. Peter and Paul school was a goldmine of knowledge and wisdom punctuated with strong friendships that have lasted through the years. I still remember my first couple of weeks there because all of the other students were so welcoming and a tight knit group was formed. The skills I learned were both essential and valuable to my education and I felt like I was fully prepared to walk into high school after my time at Sts. Peter and Paul School."
